

FAMILY CAREGIVER GUIDEBOOK

Developed by:

NEMCSA - Region 9 Area Agency on Aging

The NEMCSA Region 9 Area Agency on Aging (AAA) is pleased to provide you with this guidebook of helpful materials and publications directed toward family caregivers.

The toll of caring for someone can be emotionally overwhelming. As well as financially overwhelming with the cost of food, clothing, medical bills, and supplies. Many family caregivers are coping with their own health problems. An added emotional stress often arises from the expansion of their household when caregiving becomes necessary.

The materials provided in this manual are designed to offer family caregivers resources and information. We hope you find this manual a helpful resource guide.

Feel free to contact us if you have any questions.

Kind Regards

Laurie L. Sauer
Region 9 AAA Director

Serving the Counties of:

Alcona, Alpena, Arenac, Cheboygan, Crawford, Iosco, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle and Roscommon

Region 9 Area Agency on Aging Programs

Region 9 Area Agency on Aging can help guide and connect you to a wide variety of services and resources available in your area including:

- In-Home Services: In-home services include homemaking, personal care, home-delivered meals and respite care.
- Nutrition Programs: Congregate Meals, Home Delivered Meals and MI Cafe (Bridge Card).
- Adult Day Care Centers: Are designed to provide care and companionship for older adults who need assistance or supervision during the day.
- Care Management: Is a program that offers supports to help you live in a community setting rather than moving to a nursing home or other institutional setting. To qualify, one must be at least 60 years old. There is no income or asset requirement.
- MI Choice Waiver Program: Is a program that provides an array of Medicaid-covered nursing facility-level services to anyone age 18 or older so that they can remain in their home with the same level of service.
- State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP): Free, confidential counseling and assistance is available for people with Medicare.
- Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program: This program provides information and education to families and individuals about long-term care facilities and services. The Ombudsman investigates concerns and helps residents, families, and friends resolve problems such as quality of care, residents' rights, and state regulating services.
- Legal Services: Region 9 AAA contracts with Legal Services of Northern Michigan (LSNM) to provide free legal assistance to adults aged 60 or older.
- Person Centered Options Counseling: An interactive, unbiased, decision-support process that helps individuals make informed choices about long-term services and supports, focusing on their preferences, strengths, and values.

Powerful Tools FOR Caregivers

Powerful Tools for Caregivers (PTC) gives caregivers the skills to take care of themselves while caring for someone else. By taking care of your own health and well-being, you become a better caregiver. Six class sessions held once a week are led by experienced class leaders. Class participants are given The Caregiver Helpbook to accompany the class and provide additional caregiver resources.

Powerful Tools for Caregivers will give you tools to help:

Reduce Stress
Improve Self-Confidence
Manage Time, Set Goals, and Solve Problems
Better Communicate your Feelings
Make Tough Decisions
Locate Helpful Resources

Caregiver Webinar Series:

Region 9 Area Agency on Aging is hosting a free Caregiver Webinar Series via Zoom, on the second Friday of each month from 1:00 pm-2:00 pm. Older adults, caregivers of all types, and healthcare professionals are welcome to attend.

Adult Day Care Centers in Region 9 Area Agency on Aging

Adult day care centers provide socialization, community, stimulating activities, healthy meals and snacks, and support with activities of daily living. Some centers also offer nursing and healthcare services. Adult day care centers can be an essential aid to caregivers. They allow caregivers to hold a job, take care of household responsibilities, see friends, and pursue other activities, knowing their loved ones are safe and entertained during the day.

- Somewhere they can go during the day
- Socialize with other people
- Take part in numerous activities
- Activities can tire them so that they will sleep through the night

CAREGIVER BURNOUT

Caregiver burnout is a state of physical, emotional, and mental exhaustion. It may be accompanied by a change in attitude. Burnout can occur when caregivers do not get the help they need, or if they try to do more than they are able. When you can identify warning signs of burnout and learn interventions to reduce stress, your caregiving tasks will be more manageable and enjoyable. Sometimes caregivers do not realize that they are experiencing caregiver burnout even if they have acknowledged to themselves or to others that they feel an increasing amount of stress and pressure.

Here are some warning signs of Caregiver Burnout:

- Increased use of alcohol or stimulants.
- Change in eating or sleeping patterns.
- Inability to relax.
- Scattered thinking.
- Feeling increasingly resentful.
- Being short-tempered.
- Increasing thoughts of death.

Here are some suggestions to help cope:

- Develop a support network.
- Attend a support group to receive positive feedback and coping strategies from others in similar situations.
- Consult with a professional counselor for one-on-one counseling.
- Maintain good health by exercising regularly and eating a healthy diet.
- Take regular time out for journaling, meditating or contemplation.
- Stay involved in hobbies and activities you enjoy.

Ask yourself the following questions:

1. Do you feel any symptoms of depression?
2. Do you feel you are being pulled in many directions?
3. Do you feel like you are trapped in your role as a caregiver?
4. Is there a conflict with the people closest to you and the person you are caring for?
5. Do you feel you are not getting support from other people?
6. Is the person you are caring for placing unrealistic demands and expectations on you?
7. Do you feel like you are unable to meet the expectations and needs of the person you are caring for?
8. Are you unable to communicate effectively with others around you?
9. Is your health or the health of the person you are caring for getting worse?
10. Do you feel overwhelmed?

CAREGIVER EMOTIONS

Family caregivers can experience a range of different emotions, including guilt, abandonment, anger and many others. It can help to acknowledge these difficult feelings, and seek information and support to deal with them.

Guilt

- Having unrealistic expectations.
- Feeling bad because you are still able to enjoy life.
- Feeling that you have failed.
- Having negative thoughts about the person you are caring for.
- Regretting things about your relationship before the diagnosis.

Denial

- Hoping that the person is not ill.
- Expecting the person will get better even if the disease is progressive.
- Convincing yourself that he or she has not changed.

Anger

- Frustration with the person with dementia.
- Resenting the demands of caregiving and family members have not helped.
- Feeling abandoned.

Sadness

- Feeling overwhelmed by loss.
- Crying frequently.
- Withdrawing from social activities.

Acceptance

- Learning to live in the moment.
- Finding your sense of humor.
- Asking for and accepting help from others.

Caregivers and Depression

20% of family caregivers suffer from depression, twice the rate of the general population. Discuss the signs of depression with your primary doctor. Proper diagnosis and treatment can improve sense of well-being and function.

CAUSES OF DEPRESSION

- High anxiety and agitation
- Reaction to event or death
- A symptom of another disorder or disease
- Not being able to do everyday tasks
- A side-effect of medication
- Not being able to do the things previously enjoyed
- Feeling stressed or worried over issues such as money, relationships or the future
- Loss of independence
- Increasing reliance on others
- Confusion and loss of memory
- Environmental factors
- Inability to go out alone
- Physical illness
- Social isolation
- Fatigue

SIGNS OF DEPRESSION

- Mood that varies day to day
- Loss of interest and enjoyment
- Slowed movement and reactions
- Feelings of agitation and restlessness
- Reduced self-esteem or self-confidence
- Sleeping more or less than usual
- Loss of interest in usual hobbies or activities
- Feeling guilty, worthless, hopeless, full of regret
- Thoughts of ending one's life
- Constipation
- Aches and pain
- Loss of appetite
- Weight gain or loss
- Lack of energy
- Poor sleep
- Increased confusion
- Loss of libido

SOME SOLUTIONS:

- Consider talking to a psychologist, psychiatrist or other trained health professional.
- Get the person involved in meaningful and enjoyable activities.
- Create and maintain daily routine.
- Incorporate daily exercise.
- Consider getting a pet.
- Anti-depressant medication.
- Change the environment around you.
- Be positive, celebrate small successes.
- Consider joining a support group
- Make a list of activities, people, or places that the person receives pleasure from and schedule these things more frequently
- Make sure a small amount of time is spent in the sun each day

Manage your Stress:

1. Recognize warning signs early. These might include irritability, sleep problems, and forgetfulness. Know your own warning signs, and act to make changes. Do not wait until you are overwhelmed.
2. Identify sources of stress. Ask yourself, "What is causing stress for me?" Sources of stress might be that you have too much to do, family disagreements, feelings of inadequacy, or the inability to say no.
3. Identify what you can and cannot change. Remember, we can only change ourselves; we cannot change another person. When you try to change things over which you have no control, you will only increase your sense of frustration. Ask yourself, "What do I have some control over? What can I change?" Even a small change can make a big difference.
4. Take action. Taking some action to reduce stress gives us back a sense of control. Stress reducers can be simple activities like walking and other forms of exercise, gardening, meditation, or having coffee with a friend. Identify some stress reducers that work for you.

1. Establish an exercise routine. Increasing physical activity to at least two and a half hours a week can slow the decline in quality of life.
2. Find a neurologist you trust.
3. Dispense medication consistently on time.
4. Identify the symptoms which are most bothersome and discuss them with your doctor.
5. Practice good sleep habits.
6. Take control of the things that you can. It will help you minimize stress.
7. Continue face-to-face interactions with family members, friends, and neighbors.
8. Set short-term goals. Do not over-schedule yourself.
9. Be open and honest about what you are going through, rather than isolating yourself.
10. Support groups can offer comfort and practical advice.

Caregiver Self-Care

Taking care of yourself is one of the most important things you can do as a caregiver. This could mean asking family members or friends to help out, doing things you enjoy, using adult day care services, or attending a support group. Taking these actions can bring you some relief. It also may help keep you from getting ill or depressed.

Here are a few helpful tips for caregivers to make self-care a priority:

- Ask for help when you need it.
- Exercise as often as you can.
- See your doctor on a regular basis.
- Keep up with your hobbies and interests.
- Attend a caregiver education workshop.
- Split up caregiving responsibilities.
- Pursue your passions and interests.
- Attend to your own healthcare needs.
- Get proper rest and nutrition.
- Spend time with friends.
- Join a support group.
- Take a bath.
- Keep a journal.
- Give yourself credit.
- Set limits for what you can do.
- Repeat positive self-affirmations.

Self-Care Examples

- Meditate
- Take a nap
- Watch T.V.
- Go on a hike
- Soak your feet
- Listen to music
- Take a hot bath
- Go to bed early
- Plan a vacation
- Create a wish list
- Work on a puzzle
- Apply a face mask
- Sit in the sunshine
- Listen to podcasts
- Go for a walk outside
- Visit your therapist
- Shut your phone off
- Watch a funny movie
- Diffuse essential oils
- Find a good therapist

- Bake cookies
- Go for a drive
- Go on a date
- Get a massage
- Visit the dentist
- Try a new recipe
- Read a good book

"You cannot pour from an empty cup.
Take care of yourself."

Family Dynamics: Healthy Communication

Family dynamics are how family members interact and relate to each other. In caregiving situations, these dynamics can complicate the already challenging work. Arguments may arise over money, lack of involvement, or longstanding family emotions. Here are some ways to help defuse conflicts stemming from family dynamics, and how to keep communication open, respectful, and productive.

Tips on Family Meetings:

- Setting aside one-on-one time to talk to the person, before the meeting starts.
- Create an atmosphere for openness to discuss the full range of topics.
- Create an agenda, and give it out a couple of days before the meeting.
- Research different options before attending the meeting.
- Use respectful listening.
- Keep an open mind.
- Going over the list of caregiving needs you previously drew up.
- Pointing out areas in which someone might be able to help.
- Asking if they would like to help, and if so, in what way do they feel comfortable.
- Making sure the person understands what would be most helpful for both you and the caregiving recipient.
- Build consensus.
- Designate a note-taker to record.
- Recognize the emotional factors that can surface during a family meeting.
- Consider enlisting the help of an outside facilitator.
- Give people time to digest what is happening.
- Once the meeting has ended use technology to stay connected.
- Be flexible. Be willing to give different ideas a trial run.

Example of activities caregivers need assistance with:

- | | |
|--|-------------------|
| • Bathing/grooming | • Housekeeping |
| • Filling Medication Boxes/Refilling Prescriptions | • Paying Bills |
| • Making Medical Appointments | • Shopping |
| • Providing Transportation | • Preparing Meals |

Tips for a Successful Family Meeting

The purpose of a family meeting is to foster open communication among family members. It is a safe place where everyone is free to say what they think and feel as they cooperate to make decisions and solve problems. A structured meeting helps this to happen when a family is ready for it.

- Give everyone the agenda a couple of days before the meeting.
- Choose a location where most people will feel comfortable.
- Meetings can occur regularly, a narrow focus for each meeting can help.
- Encourage all family members to participate, long-distance caregivers can call in.
- Speaking in a respectful way helps the group stay calm and keep the discussion productive.
- Use "I" messages, instead of "you" messages. Watch for hidden "you" messages.
- Anyone can call a break.
- Remind everyone that the goal is to talk about care for your older adult, not to fix family issues.
- Distributing a calendar with different days marked with responsibilities and commitments can also help each person honor the agreements made.
- Consider having a mediator at the family meeting.
- End the meeting with something fun that affirms family members.

EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION WITH YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDER

As a caregiver you likely are the person who collects information, speaks to doctors, transports the patient, ensures lab tests are done, picks up, prepares and gives medications, researches treatment options and risks, handles insurance, and fulfills many other related tasks. Here are tips to consider for having successful communication with your doctor:

- Make a list of your questions and concerns.
- Write down and prioritize those questions, highlighting the main three or four you want to discuss.
- Send a list of the questions to your doctor in advance, if you think that would be helpful.
- Provide a list of medications and supplements you are taking, recent symptoms and the dates at which they occurred, any recent tests and names of other doctors you are seeing can be useful information to share with your doctor.
- Make sure your top concerns are known at the beginning of the visit.
- Tell your doctor if you have trouble hearing.
- Bring someone to take notes and be a second pair of ears.
- Bring a tape recorder and ask the doctor if she wouldn't mind your recording the visit to help you better remember the information you discuss.
- Ask questions.
- Ask about your medications.
- Stick with the same doctor.
- Do not hesitate to ask when words the doctor is using are unfamiliar or his instructions are not clear to you.
- Do not minimize the symptoms or situation.
- Share information about valuable community resources that have helped you.
- Inform your doctor of any cultural beliefs that may affect your treatment choices or preferences.

Benefits of Attending a Support Group

1. Feel less lonely, isolated, or judged.
2. Reduce depression, anxiety, or distress.
3. Gain a sense of empowerment and control.
4. Get advice or information about practical solutions or treatment options.
5. Improve or learn healthy coping skills.
6. Get a better understanding of what to expect in the future.
7. Improve caregiving skills and give a better quality of life to you and your care receiver.

ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY

Assistive Technology (AT) is any item, product, system, or equipment that improves life for older adults or people with disabilities. AT can make a difference in family and seniors' lives by supporting their health, safety, and quality of life.

BENEFITS OF ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY

- Increase independence
- Enhance convenience
- Helps Family Caregivers
- Help seniors age in place
- Protect senior safety
- Enable social connections
- Improve quality of life
- Support senior health
- Restore senior confidence

WHERE TO PURCHASE?

Assistive technologies can sometimes be purchased directly from the companies that manufacture them. Stores such as Best Buy or Walmart or online retailers, like Amazon, often sell assistive technologies as well.

EXAMPLES OF ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY

Portable Chair Assist can be moved around the house as needed to help with getting your person up.

Assist Bars attach to the U-Shaped latch in the car doorjamb. The device can be used as a handle to help a person in/out of the vehicle.

Swivel car seat act as a rotating cushion, allowing vehicle passengers to rotate a full 360 degrees, making it easier to enter/exit the car without twisting their bodies.

Ten button corded picture phone ensures that the person with dementia can connect with family and friends.

LEGAL AND FINANCIAL AFFAIRS

DURABLE POWER OF ATTORNEY (DPA)

Durable Power of Attorney (DPA) is a written legal document giving someone other than the care recipient the authority to handle the financial decisions. It must be signed by the care recipient while they still legally can.

This power can be transferred immediately or can be designated to go into effect when it is determined that the care recipient has become mentally incapacitated.

Financial decisions made by DPA are binding for the care recipient, so caregivers and the care-receiver are urged to seek the advice of an attorney.

DURABLE POWER OF ATTORNEY FOR HEALTH CARE (DPAHC)

Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care (DPAHC) is a written document that must be signed by the care receiver while they still have the capacity to make decisions.

The DPAHC gives someone other than the care receiver authority to make medical treatment and health care decisions on behalf of them.

It allows the care receiver to specify ahead of time of their decision.

Decisions regarding extraordinary supportive care, including breathing machines and tube feeding, can be addressed in the Durable Power of Attorney.

SELECTING AN ATTORNEY

It is important to select an attorney who is knowledgeable in the areas needed (estate planning, will drafting, probate or conservatorship). Ask friends or professionals for recommendations, or contact a Lawyer Referral Service, County Bar Association, or Senior Citizens Legal Services. Before agreeing upon a particular attorney, ask if they have previously done what you requesting.

When is it Time to Stop Caregiving?

No one person can remain a full-time caregiver forever.

The job is much too taxing and stressful. While caregiving, think about your personal limits. Be honest with yourself. Once those limits are met, it is time to stop. When coming to the decision, think about the well-being of both you and the care-receiver. Other options for your care-receiver may be the right thing.

Below are some signs that you need to seek professional help, utilize more stress reduction methods, or stop caregiving:

- Snapping at the care-receiver constantly even over little things.
- Being constantly irritated.
- Rarely laughs anymore.
- Feeling constantly tired or pressured.
- Losing sleep, failing to fall asleep for hours, sleeping restlessly all night long.
- Yelling, screaming, crying fits, or rage frequently.
- Withholding affection, feelings of goodwill from the care-recipient.
- Withholding food, baths, dressing changes, etc.
- Constantly blaming the care-receiver for your being in this situation.
- Isolating the care-reciever.
- Refusing to go out anymore.
- Withholding goods or services the care-receiver needs.

CAREGIVER WELLNESS WORKSHOP

The four-week Caregiver Wellness Workshop is designed to provide caregivers with strategies to improve their well-being and self-care, allowing them to become better caregivers. Many caregivers struggle to see the importance of Self-Care until it is too late.

The workshop series meets once a week for four-weeks, and each session is ninety minutes long.

The interactive workshops, discussions, and brainstorming will help you choose what resources and strategies you would like to use daily. Participants will receive a participant handbook with all the documents.

MODULE 1: IMPORTANCE OF SELF-CARE

Self-care is essential for a family caregiver's survival. Learn why self-care matters, the warning signs of stress, five types of self-care, and information for taking care of yourself.

MODULE 2: SUPPORT AND LOCAL RESOURCES

You are only as strong as your support, learn to build your network of support, signs of caregiver burnout, practical steps to reduce the effects of stress, and communication strategies.

MODULE 3: DEALING WITH DIFFICULT EMOTIONS

Not paying attention to your emotions can lead to poor sleep, illness, trouble coping, stress eating, and substance abuse. Learn about how to deal with your emotions in a healthy way through coping techniques.

MODULE 4: MANAGING STRESS

Create an emergency stress plan, while you build skills to be more assertive, use "I" statements, and set boundaries.

Participants will receive a copy of the participant workbook and self-care handbook.
